If there's one thing I absolutely loathe then it is hair removal – I've tried everything under the sun and nothing works for my super sensitive skin. Shaving turns into a daily nightmare if I don't use the exact right exfoliator and razor, waxing and epilators are a no-go zone for me (seriously - who ever said it was a good idea to yank your hairs out at the root was a damn fool), and hair removal creams are just too much fuss for the reward. Which is why when Laser Beautique invited me to come try their fancy pants pain-free hair removal system I was sceptical to say the least. But, because I am a sucker for punishment I decided to try it and would you believe that after just one session I couldn't get enough? Here's why you simply must give the Laser Beautique laser hair removal a try!

Before I begin my gushing about Laser Beautique I feel it is important to tell you a little story about a foolish, foolish girl. Once upon a time there was a foolish lass who knew nothing about the scary world of laser hair removal. On the misguided advice of her even more foolish friend she decided to buy a Groupon voucher (yes I said it!) for a laser hair removal session at an unknown beauty salon. But unbeknownst to her, all laser hair removal systems were NOT created equal and so what transpired was a half-hour session of pain and agony followed by a week of even more pain, treating her then burnt bikini area (that's right, she decided to go big rather than go home).

At this point in the story I would like to invite you try wearing panties, pants, skirts or anything on your bottom half when your bikini area is burnt. From that day forward the downright foolish girl vowed to never experience this torture ever again – until she was invited to try a completely new type of laser hair removal that is. Did I mention that she is a sucker for punishment? But, luckily for the foolish girl this story doesn't end in doom and gloom and in fact she was able to leave the salon wearing the undergarments and pants she arrived in with no hassle at all.

That's right Darlings, I signed up for a few sessions of laser hair removal treatments at Morningside Laser Beautique to get rid of my under arm and bikini line hair for good. During my first session I was amazed to find that I experienced almost zero pain. There was the odd niggle and tickle as the laser got hotter but all I needed to do was communicate with my therapist and she would turn it down and make the pain go away. What a delight! But why is the Laser Beautique laser hair removal system truly pain-free? It's quite simple really: at The Laser Beautique they use the revolutionary Soprano XL – a laser hair removal machine that is hailed as the Gold Standard 810 diode laser system for permanent hair reduction.

This amazing little machine allows for pain-free treatment with the use of numbing gels and works on all skin types, including tanned skin! Plus, it offers better results in fewer sessions using a new technique called IN-Motion. IN-Motion allows the therapist to deliver the energy from the laser via low fluence (energy) pulses at a rapid 10 pulse per second repetition rate. Meaning that the temperature of the hair follicle is raised slowly and the follicle is destroyed over a few movements rather than a quick, hot laser burst. During the treatment the therapist is constantly moving the hand-piece, rather than applying pressure to one spot at a time; this ensures that no spots are skipped and the client is comfortable throughout the treatment. What's more, there is no down time and the client can return to normal straight after the treatment. There's no nursing your wounds or feeling like your skin has just been singed to within an inch of its life.

After a few sessions at Laser Beautique and noticeably less hair growth I would highly recommend this treatment to anyone who struggles with hair removal and sensitive skin! It's a godsend of note and a real money saver in the long run. Underarm sessions are priced at R550 per session, and mini bikini R650 per session but there are loads of packages available that will bring the price per session down when you buy in bulk. Most clients require 8 – 12 sessions, 4 – 6 weeks apart to see lasting results.
